

Al-Jazeera Journalists Found Flying Drones In Paris

Here.

These are not the drones that have been in the news. These drones were flown over the Bois de Boulogne. Still, the French police were alarmed enough to arrest the men. If they were led to do so because the men worked for Al Jazeera – a dangerous propaganda organ of Qatar, the sheiklet that is supported extreme Muslims (“islamists”) in Libya, in Syria, in Egypt, and the last refuge, save for Erdogan, of the Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas – that would show a salutary suspicion, and ideally, the men should be expelled, and Al-Jazeera in France shut down.

What is more alarming is the inability of the Western world to slap little Qatar down. The American base in Qatar could be placed elsewhere – for example, in the U.A.E., which possesses a much more enlightened set of rulers, especially in Abu Dhabi. And why should the Al-Thani family be allowed to believe it can continue to buy property in France, or vacation in those 17th and 18th century hotels particuliers that they have bought, and in many cases ignored the law, by putting in multi-car garages, gyms, and so on – after all, what are French laws about historic preservation, or about anything, to them, the Al-Thani?
