

"Amazing," "Best And Brightest," "World-Renowned,"
"Incredible," "Extraordinary"

[A friend and fellow dissident forwarded this to me, secure in the knowledge that I would treat it with the respect it deserves]

"In the fall, I wrote to you about the amazing students who are at Harvard Law School today and how investing in financial aid allows HLS to continue to attract the best and brightest to Cambridge. (Over 80% of HLS students receive some form of financial assistance.)

While they are on campus, these students learn in new and exciting ways. Classes are smaller, the subject matter is innovative, and HLS offers more clinical opportunities than any other law school. making a generous gift today so that Dean Minow can continue to invest in our extraordinary students and teachers."
