

Anjem Choudary claims all Muslim MPs and voters are 'apostates' sinning against Islam

From the Writing on Twitter that voting is a "sin" against Islam, he argued that Parliament violated religious law because Allah is "the only legislator".

Mr Choudary wrote: "The only excuse is for a new Muslim or someone totally ignorant about voting and also what's known from Islam by necessity."

In a stream of messages using the spotted in Cardiff at the weekend as part of what seemed to be a grassroots campaign called #DontVote4ManMadeLaw. They were swiftly taken down by members of the public in the Welsh capital and the council said it would remove them.
