

Anzor Tsarnaev Blames America At The Same Time As He Says Allah Will Decide

Here is Anzor Tsarnaev, awful father of two awful sons and two awful daughters, being interviewed about his monstrous family and his monstrous views. He claims the Americans will do to his blameless younger son what “they did” to his blameless older son (that blameless older son not only was the prime mover in the two-man bombing of innocents at the Boston Marathon, but almost certainly cut the throats of three men in Waltham, as part of his personal Jihad against Jews). He has apparently forgotten all of that, or believes it to be a conspiracy by Infidels, and he has also forgotten that the cause of that older son’s death was, in the end, his being run over by his younger brother, for many of us a most satisfying, because a most macabre, end.

Yet, as a good Muslim – they have all been good Muslims in recent years, the Tsarnaevs – he also has to state that what is to come is already known by, and presumably arranged by, Allah. Well, why the hell doesn’t Allah step in to save the poor Tsarnaev boy? Allah can do everything. Why blame the Americans if Allah has arranged the fate of Dzhokar Tsarnaev? Logic, I’m afraid, is not his strong suit.