

An Ethnomusicologist at Large

by Geoffrey Clarfield (October 2012)

A mere sixty years ago there were few ethnomusicologists in the world. You could probably fit most of them into one lecture hall although they hailed from a number of different countries. Now they number in the thousands.