

Nothing?

by Paul Austin Murphy (December 2018)

The very idea of nothing (or nothingness) is hard—or even impossible—to conceive or imagine. This means that (at least for myself) it fails David Chalmers's idea of conceivability.

David Chalmers (the well-known Australian philosopher) claims that if something is conceivable