

The Poet's New Revolver Speaks

Smith & Wesson, Model 60

by Jeffrey Burghauer (November 2023)

Western Hills, Graham Sutherland, 1938-41

When old age shall this generation waste,
 Whatever Grecian urn, if it remains
In midst of other woes than those you faced,
 Remains by accident: the pounding rains
That didn't mar the marble's skin, the haste
 That didn't shatter it, the packing twine
 That held. I'll be there, too—but by design.

Table of Contents

Jeffrey Burghauser is a teacher in Columbus, Ohio. He was educated at SUNY-Buffalo and the University of Leeds. He currently studies the five-string banjo with a focus on pre-WWII picking styles. A former artist-in-residence at the Arad Arts Project (Israel), his poems have appeared (or are forthcoming) in Appalachian Journal, Fearsome Critters, Iceview, Lehrhaus, and New English Review. Jeffrey's book-length collections are available on Amazon, and his website is www.jeffreyburghauser.com.

Follow NER on Twitter @NERIconoclast