

Why Orlando Mass Murder Was Predictable

For decades, the Left (including the Leftist media) have been working to protect Islamo-Nazism from criticism. This has meant that the percentage of Muslims in Western countries has doubled and doubled again. And because the Left and the media protect the Islamo-Nazis from criticism, necessary precautions are not taken and the Islamo-Nazis grow increasingly bold. The Muslim who gunned-down gays in an Orlando night-club Muslim arrested for this arson attack had been previously designated by Obama as a “Cultural Ambassador”. He was indeed an ambassador for the culture of Muslims. The Islamic State is throwing gay men off buildings to kill them, whilst the Islamic Republic of Iran has been hanging gay men for decades. It’s quite appropriate that Obama should have chosen a Muslim who sought out gays to murder as his Cultural Ambassador, for this gay-hatred is endemic in the Muslim world. There’s not one Muslim country in the world which has gay rights, and there’s not one Muslim country in the world which will support gay rights at a UN level. There are twice as many Jews in the USA as there are Muslims, yet it was not Jews carrying out these attacks on gay bars. The warning to gays in the West is clear: you can have gay rights or you can have Muslims, but you can’t have both. Source)

Here you have an unprovoked and unbelievably savage knifing of a young gay man, just yards away from one of the last remaining gay bars. The attackers broke the bottle of wine he was carrying, and as part of this 5 minutes of evisceration, they stabbed him through the spine, leaving him paralysed for life. How did the British media report this homophobic attack by Muslims outside of one of the few remaining gay bars in East London? Only a few newspapers even bothered to report it, and they said it was “random knife crime.”

As is all too typical of racist or homophobic violence from Muslim gangs that gets as far as being reported to the media, the Muslim community give up to the police a token gang-member who is prosecuted. Normally the Muslim who is prosecuted is one of the younger members and with the shortest criminal record. These facts ensures he gets the lightest sentence and is out sooner to re-join the gang. Once a token member has been convicted, the Police give up their pursuit of the rest of the gang: the Leftist “gay leaders” are happy, as they can now brush the incident under the carpet, and get on with their delusion that Muslims will become tolerant and integrated. This is what happened in the case of Oliver Hemsley: only 1 member of a gang of 6 or more men was prosecuted. But once that fall-guy was sentenced to a “young offender” institution, the gang returned to the bar with baseball bats and attacked the staff and the customers. Why would the US government and media be more cognisant than their counterparts in the UK concerning what is being taught in Islamic schools, or in mosques or in the homes of Muslims? But there’s no reason to expect that the attitudes of Muslims in the US are any different from those of Muslims in the UK. And what has happened in the UK could have served as a warning to the US. Except that the Left, and the media, and the politicians all helped conceal what was happening.

So, what has happened to London can be taken as a predictor of what will happen to any city which has gay bars and an increasingly Muslim population (the might even transpire that Omar Mateen turns out to be gay as well as an Islamic terrorist). That is going to further confuse the Left and the “gay leaders.” The Muslim terrorist reportedly had frequented gay bars in Brussels. Rather than these 2 Muslims being gay, it seems far more likely that ISIS had decided some time ago that gay bars were an attractive target. Again, the stories about Abdeslam “being gay” should have set off warning bells for security professionals, politicians, “gay leaders” and the owners of gay businesses. But denial and delusion have been the protocol when it comes to dealing with Muslim hatred of gay people.

By 2016 an alliance of Muslims and deluded Leftists elected a Muslim to be the Mayor of London. London’s future henceforth is as a city for Muslims and tourists: a recent survey found that the “rednecks” who live outside London are far more tolerant of gay people than are the citizens of London.

Muslims from Iran to Syria to London to Seattle to Orlando share this hatred of gay people, because this is one of the tenets of Islam (*Easy Meat: Inside Britain's Grooming Gang Scandal*, New English Review Press, 2016).
