

Biden Administration Takes Side of Russia, Syria, Iran, Hezbollah Against Israel

by Hugh Fitzgerald

Israel has for years been able to bomb targets in Syria virtually at will. These include Iranian bases, where precision-guided weapons are both assembled and made ready for delivery to Hezbollah, and Hezbollah bases which take delivery of these weapons and take them back to Lebanon. In hundreds of missions over Syria, Israeli planes have successfully avoided being hit; and the Syrian and Iranian defenses have proved unequal to the task of intercepting Israeli missiles.

Until now.

The latest report on Russian missile systems being transferred to Syria is here: "Report: Russia helping Syria thwart Israeli attacks," by Neta Bar and Shahar Klaiman, Jihad Watch.