

Biden's Keystone Shutdown Damages an Alliance, Boosts Unemployment, Raises Energy Prices

by Conrad Black

As a number of commentators who have generally praised the conciliatory tone of President Keystone XL pipeline and all oil and natural gas exploration and production on federal lands, thus throwing more than 20,000 people out of work.

Shutting down Keystone XL also flies in the face of the announced goal of rebuilding alliances. The United States has no closer ally, geographically or otherwise, than Epoch Times.
