

CENSORED Video Will WIN Tommy The Election,

From video here, but as it can no longer be shared anybody wishing to watch it has to go through the palava described below after following a link. It's well worth doing if you can.

The footage, along with others contained within the 20-minute video, as Avi points out, has already come under fire, with panicked media chiefs and police officials allegedly contacting YouTube itself in a desperate bid to restrict the video's reach. An age restriction has also been placed on the clip, meaning that people have to physically sign-in to YouTube to view it; an act that police understand not many ever bother doing.

Nor is the video appearing in the suggested videos section of YouTube, and some subscribers have reported that notifications for the video also appear to have been tampered with.

"This is censorship, and it's actually happening" says Avi. "It's real. The proof is in the pudding".

Voting is today. Tommy's last rally was in Salford, Manchester last night. There were two arrests but it's not easy to pick out the exact details from the report of one of the local newspapers, the
