

Christian woman cleared of blasphemy barred from leaving Pakistan

report tonight that Citizen Go petition organisation received this message earlier today

“I apologize for the late reply. It is due to the bad situation in which we are finding ourselves. I beg you to do something urgently so that we can flee to Spain. By urgent I mean in a day or two. If at all possible, please help.”

Both Citizen Go and the BPCA (who I have met and trust) have funds set up for donations to gather enough money to pay not just for flights and a home in Spain but for the very basic requirement for Mrs Bibi of a valid up to date passport. Spain has offered asylum. Like France which has also offered asylum Spain is a Catholic country; there is a growing number of Muslims resident, but unlike France and the UK they seem better disciplined and I suspect less likely to start their own riots or murder attempts. Certainly the large number of Muslim Pakistanis in England would present a danger of their own.
