

Dozy Bints Doing the Bidding of Dawa-Peddling Hijabettes – "World Hijab Day"

As reported with enthusiasm by Australia's reliably-Islamophile ABC, just yesterday. How I would like to grab the participating infidel fools by the scruffs of their necks and make them sit down and watch Ayaan Hirsi Ali's "Submission", followed up by Wafa Sultan on the subject of Allah's hatred of women... and some of those harrowing interviews with Yazidi girls who have escaped from the horror harems – slave brothels – of the Islamic State.

'World Hijab Day: Women Show Solidarity with Muslims By Covering Their Heads.

Stockholm Syndrome on stilts: Formerly-Free Infidel Women Signal Submission to Islam and to Muslim Male Thuggery, by Donning the Muslim Female Gang Uniform aka the Slave Rag.

It is, of course, curious and quite revealing that there is no concomitant Solidarity Event promoted to the useful idiots of the male sex... a pity, perhaps, the possibilities are endless, and all of them invite parody – "Walk Around With a Raisin Stuck to Your Forehead For a Day", anyone? – Bearded Infidel Useful Idiots could shave off their moustaches and spend a week or two bristling out their beards, to get that genuine black-toilet-brush Anjem Choudary look... or if they are cleanshaven, they could just nip down to the joke shop and get a falsie (without moustache, of course) and clip it on... you know, the kind that has little hooks that go over the ears .. anybody for a henna rinse, just like Moh? Or maybe get all done up a la Lawrence of Arabia, and strut around pretending to be Sheikh for a Day, with a scimitar on the belt and a sneer – or a leer – on the lip? – CM

'Women around the world have been sharing pictures of themselves wearing a hijab in support of Muslim women on World Hijab Day on February 1.

It ought to be April 1. – CM

"I'm so happy to be part of promoting peace and understanding", one woman wrote.

"It was a wonderful and eye-opening experience!

Really? You put a piece of cloth on your head. A piece of cloth that symbolises, as Iranian French writer Chahdortt Djavann has explained, "the submission of women to men and the denial of legal rights to women in Islamic countries." A piece of cloth that, as the same woman also explains, "constitutes a constant call to order by Islamic law", and that is also "the symbol, the flag and the keystone of the Islamic system".

In other words: all these Useful Idiots, parading about in hijab in a glow of Holier-than-Thou, might as well be waving the Black Flag of Jihad. One wonders whether any of them would even consider, as their next exercise in Showing Solidarity with Vulnerable Minorities, wearing a nice big Star of David pendant in the course of their daily round – especially if they live or work on a university campus, or near suburbs "enriched" with a mohammedan population of any size. – CM

'First held in 2013, the event was founded by Bangladesh-born New York resident Nazma Khan, who wanted to foster religious tolerance and understanding (ROFLMAO – the hijab, in all its forms, represents anything but
