

Election Interference and Instances of Electoral Fraud in 2024—So Far

By Armando Simón

“Over the years, the right in America has spent an enormous amount of time explaining why the left is violating the rules, rules often formulated and imposed by the left, as if proving this point will make the left vanish like a puff of smoke. The left has gone from triumph to triumph while the right congratulates itself on carefully documenting their hypocrisy regarding their own moral claims.”

—The Z Man

Even before the cabal of elites kicked out the dementia Joe Biden and chose the imbecilic Kamala Harris as their new sock puppet, it was obvious that they would—again—try to steal the 2024 election. This prediction was as obvious as that Democrats would try to assassinate Donald Trump. And try again. And try again. After all, the FBI is known for being tenacious.

And if there is one thing that we have learned recently is that conspiracy theories can actually exist. The kakistocracy is determined to retain power, no matter what.

After the in-your-face voter fraud, outcry over the 2020, a few Republicans finally took steps in fixing mistakes and oversights, but in hindsight after the midterm elections, it became obvious they had not been enough. Now, in 2024, vigilance over voter fraud and election interference has increased, but there are still gaps, as will be seen.

As done before regarding the fraud/election interference in 2023, this will not be a flowing, elegant essay, but a raw presentation of data involving electoral fraud/interference.

In August, hackers at the DEF CON conference found security gaps in voting equipment, but no time to fix them before November.

Over 98,000 registered voters in Arizona were found to have never provided proof of citizenship. The Arizona Supreme Court ruled that they could vote anyway.

A man in Philadelphia was arrested with possession of US mail, including mail-in ballots.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania announced that it will take many days past election night to figure out who won. So has Arizona—it will take weeks. The New York Pravda stated the same, but nationwide. Apparently, we are being prepared for another coup (remember when in 2000, in order to avoid catastrophe from the Y2K bug, computer analysts worked overtime to correct the problem?).

Kimberly Zapata, a Milwaukee election official, was judged guilty of obtaining fake absentee ballots in an attempt to prove how easily it is to defraud the electoral system. She sent the evidence to Congressman Brandtjen who was concerned about electoral fraud, who was targeted.

It appears that Detroit repeated 2020 by hiring more Democrats than Republicans as poll workers, thereby breaking the law. Only 52 Republicans compared to 2300 Democrats. In Detroit? I'm shocked! Shocked! As shocked as that absentee ballot drop box video surveillance was deleted during the primary.

As of this writing, there are 63,000 names in voter rolls in the state of Georgia which are invalid and should be removed, but few have been removed. On the plus side, hand counted votes were approved on a 3 to 2 decision (the three being Republicans). Democrat Senator Raphael Warnock stated forcing hand counting of ballots is a subversion of democracy (after all, it is so hard to hack hand counting).

Democrats in Michigan are getting ready to facilitate voter fraud, as before, by doing away with canvasser's investigative powers.

Project Veritas uncovered a large voter fraud conspiracy by high-profile members of the Michigan Democrat Party. On top of that, Attorney General Dana Nessel has been targeting the GOP electors in what is now referred to as lawfare.

This year, Oklahoma purged 450,000 ineligible names from the voter rolls, including 100,000 corpses, which begs the question why did Okies wait so long?

Green Party candidate Jill Stein's paperwork was (in)conveniently resulted in her not being a candidate in Nevada. In Wisconsin, Democrats attempted to keep citizens from voting for her—in order to save democracy—but failed.

In Nevada, ballots were found to be defective. No one asked which area of the state did those ballots go to.

Democratic National Committee attempted to prevent Robert F. Kennedy Jr. from being on the ballot in New York and in Michigan.

It's unfortunate that Hurricane Helene tore through Trump country in North Carolina, FEMA doing squat for the citizens (money was better spent sent to Ukraine). On top of that, voter registration fraud is taking place and authorities are looking at the work of Black Fork Strategies (not Blackrock). Less than a week prior, the state had purged 747,000 ineligible voters, of which 130,000 were the corpses which usually vote Democrat. Prior to the purge, 24,000 records since 2004 had missing social security numbers and driver's license numbers.

And speaking of Black Fork, it was seen with others at the scene of a similar crime in Ohio.

Fraudulent voter registration requests have taken place in Pennsylvania in anticipation of elections.

Election for a Louisiana Democrat sheriff was nullified once voter fraud was discovered.

In Virginia, an election official was indicted for corruption when it was discovered she had committed fraud in the 2020 election (countless other instances have been found throughout the country, but this will be the only one included here).

In Springfield, Massachusetts, mayoral challenger and Democrat Justin Hurst was recorded buying votes.

Former lieutenant governor of New York Betsy McCaughey has written, "In statewide races, including for governor or president, Republicans historically have been ahead until the absentee ballots in the Democrat-controlled cities in Connecticut are tallied.”

Washington, D.C. has so many civic minded citizens eager to vote that its voter rolls are 131 %. You can't beat the civic mindedness of Democrats.

Democrat-infested California banned the use of IDs in order to vote—a requirement in every country in the world. After all, not every illegal immigrant has been issued an ID yet and, besides, not having an ID allows one to vote multiple times.

New Hampshire governor signs into law a requirement of citizenship in order to vote. Due to take effect after the election.

In Georgia, 35 cases of election law violations were referred to the attorney general.

A Texas district attorney, a Democrat, showed up to vote, only to find out someone already had voted for her (oh, the irony! You gotta love it). In further good news from Texas, Lt. Governor Dan Patrick offers a financial reward for any whistleblower when it comes to electoral fraud. On top of that, Attorney General Ken Paxton has targeted voting policies liable to result in fraud in Democrat-run cities, including the People's Democratic Republic of Austin.

Organizations focused on evil outcomes but having a benevolent sounding name is typical of leftist totalitarians. Those involved in voter fraud, in one way or another, are Catholic Charities, the Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL), American Civil Liberties Union, Voters Not Politicians, Arabella Advisors, Working Families Power, Vote Today PA, Coalition for the People's Agenda, Sixteen Thirty, Action Now and many others, pouring millions of dollars towards the goal of putting Democrats firmly in power.

In order to derail Donald Trump's reelection, Democrats resorted to mutilating the law, something they are good at but not to this extent. He was hit with several successive charges, all of them transparently bogus to anyone not afflicted with TDS. Pliable grand juries were selected (all grand juries do what the prosecutor tells them; the Constitutional concept of a grand jury has been perverted) to indict him, the cases were set in Democrat-run districts, and judges having a rabid hatred for the man were selected. The outcome, like every Show Trial, was pre-ordained, with gargantuan fines meant to cripple his candidacy. However, it backfired. The despicable conduct of the judges became known. Trump received tens of millions of dollars from ordinary citizens. And recently, when one of the cases was presented to the appeal court—the one involving the gruesome charge of borrowing money and repaying it—the judges so eviscerated the attorneys for the state that at least one was begging not to be sanctioned while crying after he was told that this farcical case was obviously election interference.

You have to hand it to the Democrats; they keep coming up with new ways to carry out electoral fraud. They were recently gloating about overseas American (?) voters casting votes because there is no way to prove that the voters will be Americans; they could be Chinese for all one knows. What is definitely known is that they will be voting for Democrats and that they are tossing around the number of 9 million voters. Another tactic is to make last-minute changes to voting procedures. The end justifies the means.

And just a reminder: Joe Biden, who is supposed to be so popular, he gathered more votes than Barak Obama or Donald Trump (81 million votes! Really!) has tiny audiences whenever he speaks—or mumbles.

To add insult to injury, Biden awarded Presidential Citizens Medals to persons whose voter fraud helped put him in the White House.

Arguably, stealing/mutilating yard signs advocating a Republican candidate, although not a new tactic by Democrats, could be argued that it is electoral interference. At least it is interesting to see and hear their arrogance in doing so (“fact checkers” from the media hivemind dismiss such instances). In Michigan, a Democrat killed an old man who was putting up a Trump yard sign. For once, the media didn’t blame Trump’s “violent rhetoric.”

Because of a “glitch” in Arizona’s election system—and “glitches” always seem to favor Democrats—218,000 residents will be allowed to vote (remember when in 2000, in order to avoid catastrophe from the Y2K bug, computer analysts worked overtime to correct the problem?).

A citizen group claims that it has found a way to detect fraudulent ballots, but is it too little too late?

Seven persons in Kentucky were found to have engaged in several, various, voter frauds.

Republican Michigan State Rep. Brad Paquette revealed that his wife was sent an unrequested absentee ballot in her maiden name to an address she has not lived in for 43 years. Is this a new tactic, or a “glitch”?

A clerk in Madison, Wisconsin, admitted of “accidentally” sending out thousands of duplicate absentee ballots. Celestine Jeffreys a clerk in Green Bay admitted she broke election laws (again) but, hey, it’s OK because she didn’t understand the laws; PILF took her to court. By contrast, the mayor of another city personally removed a ballot drop box from outside city hall. Also, over 2,000 absentee ballots were mailed out with no barcode. On top of everything, because of a “loophole” 150,000 persons can now vote without showing an ID. Very convenient for Democrats. Also convenient for them is the Wisconsin Supreme Court—the twin of Colorado’s Supreme Court—reinstating ballot boxes. We may yet witness someone with a wheelbarrow full of ballots dropping them in a box. And illegal aliens are being issued IDs with which to vote. Regardless, as concerns free elections Wisconsin can be written off.

Hossain Morshed was caught engaging in voter fraud.

In North Carolina, early voting locations were placed mostly in Democrat areas rather than evenly spaced.

In Pennsylvania, the ACLU took to court a requirement that mail-in ballots must have the correct date. It won the case.

In Virginia, the Democrat-Biden administration sued and won against removing noncitizens from voter rolls. Virginia appealed and the Supreme Court allowed the purge.

The Democrat attempt to prevent Green Party candidate Robert Barb from appearing on the ballot was shot down by the Montana Supreme Court.

Michigan Secretary of State Jocelyn Bensen ordered poll challengers to be removed from counting rooms if they raise a fuss, directed city clerks to ignore signature matching on absentee ballots, allowed at least 48,000 non-legal voter registrations to be certified, and ignored instances of questionable voting procedures.

Catholic Charities is involved in not only smuggling in illegal aliens, but also in registering them; it is a leftwing organization, supposedly Catholic. If truly Catholic, they are facilitating the Democrats' goal of cutting the throats of religious people.

Merrick B. Garland the head of the DOJ, who has targeted Catholics, has labeled parents "domestic terrorists" for objecting to their children being indoctrinated, who refused to give RFK Jr Secret Service protection and gave minimal to Donald Trump, who is also trying to turn the FBI into a Stasi and who (I'm going out on a limb here) facilitated the attempted assassination of Trump, has (indirectly) declared in favor of voter fraud.

Texas Secretary of State Jane Nelson told election workers to allow noncitizens to vote in the coming presidential election. Also in Texas, Republican Candidate for State Rep. HD 55, Hillary Hickland was caught stealing Ted Cruz signs.

In the state of Washington, Secretary of State Steve Hobbs and Attorney General Bob Ferguson, both Democrats, have done away with the constitutional requirement for residency in order to vote. Instead, voters can change their voter registration as late as 8PM on election day.

In Illinois, the Democrats retroactively changed the laws, which resulted in eliminating Republican challengers.

Kamala Harris was not elected as the Democrat candidate by the rank and file Democrats. She was installed. Like a toilet.

In mid-October, Georgia voting system was hit with a cyberattack zeroing in on the request for absentee ballot site. The attack was fended off.

In the present election in Colorado, mail-in ballots were stolen, filled out, and mailed in.

Congressman Adam Schiff may have committed election and voter fraud.

Florida vowing to crack down electoral fraud in Florida, he created a police agency to specifically investigate voter fraud allegations, which has resulted in convictions. Liberals, predictably, wailed that it is unjust to prosecute and convict people who commit voter fraud. As a result, organizations that indirectly promote electoral misconduct have tucked in their tails and left the state.

In Colorado, the Secretary of State's office posted a spreadsheet—accidentally, of course—that listed the password of the state’s voting systems.

At practically the last minute the US Fifth Circuit Court ruled against Mississippi counting votes five days after the election.

West Virginia’s Secretary of State Mac Warner has cleaned up West Virginia’s voter rolls and cut all ties with leftist-linked voter roll groups. He has also but ties with ERIC, has insisted that the 2020 election was a travesty and had condemned Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) for its censorship activities.

Back in Montana, a Democrat operative named Laszlo Gensler tampered with a ballot drop box, possibly trying to dislodge it from the wall.

In Pennsylvania, 2500 fraudulent voter registration applications were filed in one county just before the deadline. In that same county, F&M College asked the authorities why the students were not registered to vote even though they had registered long ago, and the college personnel were told to shut up. In another county an overabundance of mail-in ballots and voter registration forms were discovered. Democrats are hard at work elsewhere in the state. But here is the frosting on the cake: in one location three busloads of illegal aliens bused in by Democrats, cut ahead of the line of people who had been waiting to vote for hours. Americans waiting in line just stood there and did nothing to intervene. And days before the election day, a Pennsylvania TV station prematurely announced that Kamala Harris had won in the state.

In Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, North Carolina and Arizona, a pro-Harris PAC called AllVote has been actively engaged in voter suppression.

And if all of the above was not enough, there is the Chinese Communist Party to contend with since Trump was the only president with the backbone to thwart China's economic aggression (Biden was too busy accepting bribes through his son, Hunter).

Summary

The above list is not the full number of fraudulent activities, but because of space restrictions not all were included. Also, to be frank, many cases must have inevitably been overlooked by this author.

Until this decade, we used to think that elections in a democracy were immaculate. That delusion has been shattered through a thousand paper cuts, and a major evisceration in 2020. In fact, as early as 2013, the alarm was being raised.

Electoral fraud can be put in two general categories: (1) carried out by individuals, and, (2) systemic. The latter can be further subdivided into: (a) not providing enough ballots in Republican areas, (b) tampered voting machines, (c) ignoring existing laws by the Secretary of State and other Democrats along with their minions, (d) government lawfare against candidates, (e) removal of candidates from the ballots, (f) Deep State interference, (g) tactics by independent organizations, (h) eliminating requirement of voter IDs, (i) barrage of frivolous lawsuits by veteran lawyers like Marc Elias, (j) ballot harvesting (k) drop box voting (l) individuals voting multiple times (m) allowing illegal aliens to vote Democrat (n) using government money to solicit votes in violation of the Hatch Act and (p) the traditional cemetery votes. When it comes to voter fraud and voter suppression Democrats are versatile.

Illegal alien votes require a whole different section all by itself. They are the Democrats' ace in the hole.

Of course, if one were to go by the mainstream media, everything's fine, there are no irregularities in elections.

And the undeniable fact is that electoral misconduct is carried out exclusively by Democrats, who have done so since Tammany days. Some may find it hard to believe that persons who owned slaves, initiated a civil war, created the KKK, carried out lynchings, passed and enforced Jim Crow laws would stoop so low as to indulge in voter fraud. However, the data is quite clear.

It is also quite clear the American way of life is under constant attack by Democrats, from desecrating churches and statues to falsifying history to attacking holidays and free speech to ignoring laws to engaging in lawfare to wishing to destroy the Supreme Court, and, of course, sabotaging free elections, not too surprising since totalitarian leftists openly state how deeply they hate America and all it stands for.

And if Donald Trump escapes unscathed from further assassination attempts by Democrats and is reelected in spite of Democrats' attempts to derail a free election, already plans are being hatched by Democrats to negate the people's choice for president.

Totalitarians are nothing if not relentless.

For leftists, it has always been the end justifies the means.
