Huma Abedin's Father Appears in 1971 Interview Explaining his Views on Sharia

He was a hardliner. Adam Kredo writes in the Western Michigan University television.

Abedin said that Arab states must police the upholding of Sharia, or Islamic law, and explained why the majority of Muslims view Israel and the Western world in primarily "hostile" terms.

The video provides a window into the Abedin family's ideology, which has been marred by according to the