

In Boston, Officer John Moynihan, Angelo West, And Black Lives Matter

A career criminal who had tried to kill policemen before, Angelo West was stopped for a traffic violation by a policeman, John Moynihan. West then shot Moynihan in the face, just below the eye. Moynihan is in a medically-induced coma. Other officers shot and killed West. Now Black Lives Matter (Boston Division) is going to hold a meeting to decide what response it should make to this latest outrage by the Occupying White Policemen who have no understanding, this case shows yet again, that Black Lives Matter.
