

In Every Battle...

by Reg Green

“In every battle there comes a time when both sides consider themselves beaten; then he who continues the attack wins.” It’s one of Ulysses S. Grant’s best-known quotes. Ukrainians, for now at least, seem to want to attack wherever they can. Do we have the will to help them?