Iranian girl dies after being 'beaten by morality police' for not wearing hijab

Sad news. She was only 16. It's a wicked regime.

An Iranian girl, 16, has died after she was allegedly beaten by morality police for not wearing a hijab.

The death of Armita Geravand comes after the one-year anniversary of the death of Mahsa Amini and the nationwide protests it sparked.

"Unfortunately, she went into a coma for some time after suffering from brain damage. She died a few minutes ago," the official IRNA news agency reported on Saturday.

Geravand had been pronounced brain dead after she fell into a coma on Oct 1.