

Israel: Arab Muslim Who Joined ISIS Is To Lose Israeli Citizenship

Commonsense. Do it, Israel. Do it. Strip him of the infidel-country citizenship that he despises, that he has by his actions repudiated, and which is, for him, merely a temporary and tactical convenience. And set an example to all other free-world majority-non-Islamic countries that are similarly afflicted with Muslim colonies and with the violent jihadis that, naturally and ceaselessly, emerge from those Muslim colonies and are enabled, sheltered and nurtured by those colonies.

“Israeli Who Joined ISIS to lose citizenship’.

Not an “Israeli”. An “Israeli-passport-holding Arab Muslim”. – CM

“Interior Minister looks to nullify citizenship of Israeli Arab (sic: Israeli-passport-holding Muslim – CM) who joined ISIS terror organisation. “He is unworthy of being an Israeli”.

True dat. Just as it is true of ll the others, also Muslims to a man (or woman), holding infidel-country passports and citizenship-status for which they manifestly hold total contempt, and of whom it could be said that they are unworthy of being an ‘Australian’, a ‘Frenchman’, an “Englishwoman”, etc...- CM

“Interior Minister Aryeh Deri (Shas) ordered ministry officials Friday to revoke the citizenship of an Israeli man (Israel-passport-holding Arab Muslim – CM) who joined the ISIS

(Islamic State in Syria) terrorist organization (Jihad outfit – CM).

“On Friday, Deri instructed the Interior Ministry to strip Abdallah Hajleh of his Israeli citizenship, on the grounds of breach of loyalty to the State of Israel and intent to harm the security of the state and its citizens.

Imagine if we could read those words in an Australian, a US, a UK, a French newspaper ... “to strip [Arabic Muslim name] of his [or her] [insert name of appropriate Infidel country here] citizenship, on the grounds of breach of loyalty to the State of [insert name here] and intent to harm the security of the State and its citizens.” – CM

‘The Shin Bet internal security agency backed Deri’s request to revoke Hajleh’s citizenship over his support for the ISIS terror group.

‘The Interior Ministry will forward Deri’s request to a special court for citizenship issues.

‘Deri noted in his order to pursue the revocation of Hajleh’s citizenship, that Hajleh had left the country six years ago and joined the ranks of ISIS abroad.

‘In addition to his Israeli citizenship, Hajleh also holds citizenship in a foreign country.

‘The ministry also filed a request with the Central District Court to issue an order banning Hajleh from entering Israel.

‘On Thursday the court approved the order preventing Hajleh from entering the country.

“In this case,” Deri said (on) Friday, “The facts are clear. This person is dangerous to the Israeli public. This is a person who has shown disloyalty to the State of Israel, who has worked to undermine its existence, and spent years working to harm its security. I see no other way, besides nullifying his citizenship. He is not worthy of being an Israeli.”

One commenter observed – “Israeli [sic: Israel-resident Arab Muslim – CM] who join the PLO, Hamas, or Islamic Jihad, should also lose citizenship, and further, the entire extended families of terrorists should be deported to promote peace!”

Yes. And a similar policy ought to be in place across the entire non-Islamic world. Join a Jihad gang? Incite Jihad? Send money or materiel to a known jihad outfit? Get the boot. Pretty soon the mohammedan colonies in many an infidel-majority country would be significantly reduced in size. Of course, a simultaneous halt to all further immigration of Muslims into Infidel-majority countries would have to be imposed. Because, Got Muslims, Got Jihad. One can't do too much about jihadis in a next-door Islamic country, apart from vigorously fortifying one's borders and making it plain that all cross-border aggression emanating from said Muslim neighbour, will be repelled by overwhelming force; but jihad from within the gates can be reduced, by ceasing to let any more Muslims in, and by requiring and/ or encouraging the departure of those already present. Stripping infidel-country citizenship status from openly-declared jihadists such as this Abdallah Hajleh – who have already physically removed themselves from within one's gates – and preventing them from ever getting back in, is but the first and easiest step in the process of removing the Ummah colonies / fifth columnists from within the regions that Islam frames as “dar al Harb”, Zone of War.
