London Bridge attack: 'Four held' as police raid flats in Barking 'in connection with terror attack'

Piecing together London Evening Standard

Metropolitan Police have raided flats in east London "in connection with a terror attack at London Bridge which left seven people dead".

Images posted on social media showed a police cordon around flats in Kings Road, Barking, shortly after 7am on Sunday. Officers placed the abuse of British soldiers of the Royal Anglian Regiment. challenge the Islamisation.