

London Calling: Tommy Robinson today

Today in London, Tommy Robinsons Patriot Rally, starting outside the Royal Courts of Justice in the Strand and marching to Trafalgar Square.

A pro Britain rally to unite the Kingdom

Speakers should include Laurence Fox and Sammy Woodhouse who is a survivor of the Rochdale rape gangs and a wonderful example of the principle of what doesn't kill us makes us stronger. Not that that is any excuse to inflict torment on innocent girls. I'm also expecting music including a gospel choir and singer/songwriter Louise Distras.

There should be a few podcasts and live feeds. You can search for your own, or I believe this one should prove reliable. Fountain FM

There are several other marches and demonstrations today. The transrights rally isn't considered a problem (except to us TERFs but that's for another day) but the Antifa/SUTR/Palestinian groups should, according to the police, be contained in Whitehall. The Palestinian groups have asserted that opposing British patriots IS an Palestinian issue.

I'll be going shortly. I intend to report tonight once I am home.

If I can get wifi access for my device (as it is termed, why do I always think of the poem by Longfellow and the 'banner with the strange device') I'll try to update as I go. But that's not an odds on racing certainty.

Wish us well, dear gentle readers.
