

Londoner Aine Davis accused of plot to fund Islamic State terrorism in Syria

From the London Evening Standard

Aine Davis, 38, who was born in Hammersmith, is accused of orchestrating an attempt to smuggle 20,000 euros out of the UK to a contact in Turkey through his then-wife Amal El-Wahabi. Davis is also accused of possessing a firearm for terrorist purposes between July 28, 2013 and January 16, 2014, when he is said to have been pictured holding a rifle in IS-occupied Syria.

On Friday, he appeared at the Old Bailey via videolink from HMP Belmarsh, and did not have a barrister to represent him during the 20-minute hearing.

A trial was set for February 27 next year, with a plea hearing scheduled for December 23. Mr Justice Sweeney remanded Davis ... into custody until his trial.
