

Lunch Conquers All, Part 2

by Theodore Dalrymple (February 2015)

There is no such thing as a free lunch, they say, and perhaps this is so in the abstract: but no doctor really believes it. His personal experience leads him to conclude otherwise: thanks to the pharmaceutical industry there are many free lunches, as there have been for many a long year. more>>>