

Man who helped run Trojan Horse school now at the heart of Birmingham Labour

Following the investigation by the blogger Guido Fawkes has more.accused Ofsted of being “biased” and accused them of a “narrow agenda”.

Yet Guido can reveal that, in spite of his past actions, Ashraf remains heavily active in Labour Party politics.

This month he acted as a referee for the Labour council candidate Alison Gove-Humphries, who was listed on Birmingham Labour’s website as the party’s contact in Hall Green. This man helped run a Trojan Horse school, now he is helping run Labour’s campaigns in Birmingham...