

Men accused of catalogue of sex offences in Oxford found not guilty

This is unexpected and disappointing news from Oxford. There have been reporting restrictions since even before the trial started in September. I was trying to get a broad idea of progress from one of the court listing websites, and there was Oxford Mail and sadism was comparable to that shown to the jury during the Operation Bullfinch trial.

The trial of these men arrested under