

Michael Rectenwald to launch Google Archipelago at Metropolitan Republican Club Tonight

From the Metropolitan Republican Club's website:

Join us on Thursday October 3, 2019 from 6:30pm to 9:00pm for the Met Club's Monthly Social featuring Michael Rectenwald – The notorious @antipcnypof who will join us to launch his new book Google Archipelago. The former NYU Professor (from 2008 to 2019) pundit and champion of free speech will discuss his latest book

Google Archipelago: The Digital Gulag and the Simulation of Freedom which begins with familiar cultural politics as points of entry to the book's theme regarding the reach, penetration, and soon the ubiquity of the digital world.

In a book about enormous sea changes brought about by digital technology, Google Archipelago begins and ends with the political, in particular with the objectives of the Big Digital conglomerates as global corporate monopoly capitalists or would-be monopolies.

Join us for this timely and fascinating event!

Light Buffet, Soft Drinks, Beer and Wine!

Members: $15

Non-members: $25

RSVP: