

Of Molehills and Mountains

The latest media whipped hysteria involves Donald Trump having tweeted a picture of Hillary Clinton superimposed on a pile of cash with the words, "History made" and "Most Corrupt Candidate Ever" in a star.

I saw it, didn't think anything of it, except "that's true.". In fact, I may have re-tweeted it. Does that make me an antisemite?

The bigger question is, is the media deliberately creating a diversion away from Hillary's interview with the FBI?