

One More Example Of Islamic Propaganda In The Schools

The slow infiltration, through textbooks and lesson plans, and naive teachers who have been persuaded that this attention to the most trivial outward practices (five canonical prayers, the Shehada, Ramadan) will help children to acquire a sympathetic understanding of the “real Islam,” the Islam “the Islamophobes don’t want you to find out about.” CAIR and its small army are working constantly, in North America as others are doing in Europe. And few notice, few take the time to figure out what is going on, or to protest. But sometimes a parent does protest. And that is salutary.
