

Pim Fortuyn Must Not Be Forgotten

Here, in Dutch with subtitles, a debate in 1997 between Pim Fortuyn and the Labor Party's Minister of Housing, sociologist Marcel Van Dam..

Pim Fortuyn was murdered by a demented Dutch man, a former "animal-rights activist," who had had deliberately planted in his head the notion that Fortuyn was unkind to Muslims and Muslims, like animals, were weak and needed their protectors, willing to kill to "protect" them.. Here Fortuyn debates with the semi-demented and vicious Marcel Van Dam. Fortuyn was murdered. What happened to Van Dam?