

"Quiet And Gentle" Mohamad Mohamud, Of Kenya And Somalia

His voice was ever soft, and so on. He taught in a madrasa and then was inspired, because of his unswerving belief in what Islam inculcates, to be, and to direct others to be, a mad-dog killer. The latest attack he masterminded took place at Garissa, in northern Kenya. You know what happened. An ethnic Somali, he was apparently a citizen Kenya, a country that had given refuge and succor to so many Somalis, fleeing Muslim misrule – it's all over the place, isn't it? – in Somalia. Mohamad Mohamud spoke Swahili, and in a "soft and gentle" voice. But he identified and threw in his lot with the Somalis, with Al-Shebaab. He was a Muslim, and he took his Islam to heart. That led him to be willing to participate in Jihad directly, not indirectly, and using the instrument of violence, rather than one of the many other instruments that Muslims can use in waging Jihad which is the struggle to remove all obstacles to the spread, and then the dominance, of Islam, so that in the end, the whole world is everywhere under the dominance of Islam, and Muslims rule, everywhere.
