

Refugee 'schoolboy' told pupil he was a '25-year-old married father-of-two':

The 15-year-old girl was said to be worried by the messages because she was convinced the boy, who claimed to be the same age, was far older. Staff told the year 11 pupil that the girl did not welcome his attention.

A girl at the school said: 'Everyone was making jokes as we went into registration, saying, "What is a man doing at our school?" He started FaceTiming my friend, sending her messages, asking how close she lived to the school. She was a bit concerned because he seemed so old. He kept messaging her during the night, and in the morning he texted her saying, "Hello, how are you?" She told the maths teacher and was taken to the safeguarding teacher who looked at the messages and said there was nothing sinister about them.'

Outraged parents threatened to remove their children from the school, which has 680 pupils, until a full investigation was conducted. Some who complained to the school say they were told the student had the appropriate paperwork. But claims emerged yesterday that the pupil, who speaks in broken English, has admitted he is much older than his Year 11 classmates.

The school said the pupil is no longer attending classes.
