This is the most important post I will write all year.

Earlier this year I went to Israel to bear witness. I heard the horrific stories of the sexual violence that occurred on October 7th. I sat with released hostages who were sexually assaulted at the hands of their captors. And I cried with real-life heroes who saw the naked bodies of women tied to trees. Screams Before Silence tells their stories so we know the truth about what happened on that day.

It is our responsibility to collectively bear witness so their screams are heard. We must stand together to demand justice for the victims and the survivors, and make sure this never happens again, anywhere in the world.

Regardless of your politics, rape is never ok. Rape is not resistance.

I urge you to watch #ScreamsBeforeSilence and share it.
