

Shamima Begum tells UK: 'I could help you fight terrorism because you clearly don't know what you're doing'

Shamima Begum was interviewed on Good Morning Britain this morning. Not a programme I watch, but this is how the newspapers are reporting her session.

The east London schoolgirl who dumped her veil a year ago and now straightens her dyed hair, paints her nails and wears make-up, fled her home in 2015 to join the so-called Islamic State terror group in Syria with two friends both now believed to be dead. She denies her image change is a publicity stunt.

The 22-year-old east London schoolgirl, who fled her home in 2015 to join terror group Isis, was questioned on comments she made about the bombing on Good Morning Britain today (Wednesday).
