

Stratford Vue capitulate over Lady of Heaven

A statement from the Metropolitan Police doing the rounds on Twitter. I want to find the original shortly, but as it is being re-tweeted by Nick Timothy of the Telegraph I am confident that it is bona fide.

The police are aware of a planned protest at Stratford Vue Cinemas on Saturday 11th June, in reaction to showings of the film Lady of Heaven earlier this week.

Licensing and Faith Officers in Newham have been in ongoing communication with Vue Cinemas and Westfield. They have confirmed that there are no further showings of the film planned at the cinema.

Visitors to Stratford will see an enhanced police presence in the area throughout the weekend, though any protest is expected to remain peaceful.

To quote Mr Timothy himself

Well the Metropolitan Police sound mighty relieved that thuggery and criminal intimidation have prevailed over free expression and law and order.

and comments to his tweet

Just as well no one was planning to hold a vigil for a murder victim or they'd need to send in the Taser crew. A reference to the vigil held for Sarah Everard, kidnapped and murdered by a serving police officer, at which numerous peaceful young women were arrested (The Duchess of Cambridge had gone home before the police got 'assertive') and charged with breach of Covid diktat.

@metpoliceuk working with extremists, to allow blasphemy laws in through the back door?

Not sure what 'faith officers' have got to do with this. We have no blasphemy laws in this country and freedom of speech allows this film to be shown. Under what criteria has this film being pulled?

Someone needs to question the cinema manager to see if the police pressurised him into stopping the film screenings.. (I bet a £ to a penny he was)

Richard Fairbrass of RIGHT SAID FRED Replying to @NJ_Timothy
The British police no longer represent an open democratic liberal society. They are enemies of freedom and the right to choose. Weakened by fear and woke paranoia they bend when needed and take the knee when it's deemed necessary

And from happy Muslims

Alhamdulillah. Lady of Heaven has been removed from Vue Cinema in Stratford (yet to be announced if it's the entire chain across the country).

Capitulation to thuggery is not very impressive from our woke and selective police service.
