

Syrian Refugees Are the New Jews. So Who Are the Nazis?

Lee Smith writes in warned that “invoking the Holocaust for contemporary political debates is an inherently tricky business.” Nonetheless, it’s become the consensus take in the media, as seen with Politico, Cokie Roberts on “The New York Times”, including a signature Nicholas Kristof column arguing that “said: “In the Syrian seeking refuge today, we should see the Jewish refugee of World War II.” Obama’s conviction that the suffering of Syrian refugees is directly similar to that of Europe’s Jews is perhaps why