

The Big-Hearted Naive Celebration Of The Dissolution Of The West

In Denmark, which is hardly the most advanced example, here. Lacking the words, and the will, to properly describe the full meaning of this endlessly-celebrated “diversity,” those who do not find much to celebrate, appear mean-minded or much worse, and – tongue-tied – remain silent. And the celebrators, with the full weight of the propaganda of the state and media behind it, carry the day – everywhere in the West – over the critics, who have the truth– but nothing but the truth – on their side.
