

The Famed Journalist Philippe Tesson: It's The Muslims Who Are Trying To Destroy The Laic State

Philippe Tesson speaks his mind.

He was for many years the editor of Combat. He is combative, and he's in his '80s, and he lived through the war, during which the Germans seized his family's house. He's not used to, he doesn't accept, the idea that "some things can't be said." He says what he wants, here, even after the program's interviewer says "you can't say things like that." Sez who, replies Philippe Tesson.

Here.