

The New York Times Removed Mention Of The Qur'an And Islam From Survivor Sigolene Vinson's Account – Why?

An important story, and question, that must be asked again and again, not just in the press but on television, until an answer – not a satisfactory answer for there can not be such, but an answer – is received from someone in authority at the meretricious– and more and more unacceptable in its absurd coverage of everything having to do with Islam – New York Times.