

Today, we march. Today, we take a stand. Campaign Against Antisemitism

By Esmerelda Weatherwax

Storm Darragh may be blowing over, but antisemitism is not.

Today's March Against Antisemitism is proceeding as planned.

Today, you will be among thousands of British Jews and allies marching in central London to take a stand against unprecedented levels of antisemitism and growing extremism in British society.

If I can get some live pictures to post I will. Otherwise I hope to have a report this evening.

Two below. I'm wet and cold but warm inside with fellowship.

like ET I'm on my way home.
