

Two more Isil brides stripped of British citizenship

From the The Iqbal sisters, from Canning Town, east London, headed to Syria in 2013 after marrying into a six-man cell of jihadists with close links to the filmed murders of western hostages by Jihadi John. Their husbands were later killed in fighting. Zara, 28, already had a son when she made the journey and was heavily pregnant with her second child, to whom she gave birth in Syria. She later had a third boy under the Isis caliphate. The family is believed to be in either al-Hol camp or another facility at Ain Issa. Her older sister, Reema, 30, has two sons, one of whom was born in Britain. They are in Roj camp, to which Begum was recently transferred.

Photograph – Women in Al Hol camp in Syria Credit: Sam Tarling/The Telegraph.

Shopping for a new pink suit and scarf to match the pink nail varnish. (isn't nail varnish unislamic?)