

Vale atque Ave

by James Como (November 2015)

In the beginning of our idyll, away from the Projects and concrete, right in front of our new home with a lawn near a street still unpaved, without curb or sidewalk, she planted a willow, and violets beneath.
more>>>