

Valls: New Surveillance Rules, Because "France Has Never Faced So Great A Muslim Terrorist Threat"

Here.

Well, what he actually said was that "France has never faced so great a terrorist threat." But you know. I know. Valls knows. Everyone in France, or almost, everyone in Europe, or almost, everyone of sense, or almost, in the whole world knows, what Manuel Valls meant. So from now on, let's just put that word "Muslim" in wherever it has been so ridiculously omitted, just to be absolutely clear even for those who are not following events, or are still slightly confused.. For the sake of clarity.