

Violent Between Immigrants                      Confrontations Germans                      and

And between Germans and the left-wing politicians and newspaper editors they feel are selling their country down the river. Since this is a war of civilians on civilians, it is not surprizing that civilians take up arms on both sides.