

We must defend free speech against those who would use intimidation and violence to shut that down; you know who you are.

As I said earlier, a friend attended the Martin Sellner from Austria and Brittany Pettibone from the US, who expected to speak, were turned round at the airport on the orders of the Home Office. Those who did speak spoke well and concisely. A statement from Martin Sellner was read. One speaker told of the incident earlier this week when Antifa stormed a meeting of the here, on a video uploaded to Facebook

I am reliably informed that this character to the left with the UAF placard is named Paul Sillet. He is big and busy in UAF circles, sometimes Liverpool, another day Leicester, Manchester, Peterborough... Today in London he noticed several people filming the Antifa/UAF anti-free speech demonstration. Ignoring those observers who were men (or presented as men, being big, burly, masculine) he started berating the only woman, who seemed to be reporting for a European organisation, but my friend was unable to speak to her to find out more. You can see him in this second piece of video at the here from a free-lance reporter as part of their report on Canadian journalist Lauren Southern being barred from entry to the UK yesterday (Monday 12th)
