

Why Not A Guaranteed Income For All Muslims So They Won't Be Discontent?

In Sweden, there will be jobs and apartments and subsidies awaiting those who come back from the Islamic State. That will put them in such a good mood that they will no longer be tempted by the siren song of Sura 9, or the Hadith about Jihad. They will be Muslims who will choose to forget that they once took Islam seriously, because now their prosperity, thanks to a Swedish government program, is assured. And assured permanently, lest they relapse. Of course, there is no similar need to guarantee prosperity for non-Muslims, because if they get disgruntled, they won't take it out on Infidels. They don't view the universe through the prism of Islam. Perhaps more non-Muslims will then convert to Islam, just to ensure that they get all those promised benefits, too.
