

XCV And Not Dead Yet

by Reg Green

Reading a collection of Truman Capote's letters the other night (not really worth the effort, I thought), I saw that when he wrote about Tennessee Williams, he called him 10.

I enjoyed the joke and wondered how many people, like me, coming across a reference to President Xi of China, say to themselves 'Mr. Elevenses'.